

*"On that moment hung eternity.
Time stood still. Space contracted to a pinpoint.
It was as though the earth had opened and the skies split.
One felt as though he had been privileged to witness the birth of the world."*

William L. Laurence
Eyewitness